Re: Ownership & Employee Party

Dear Rich:

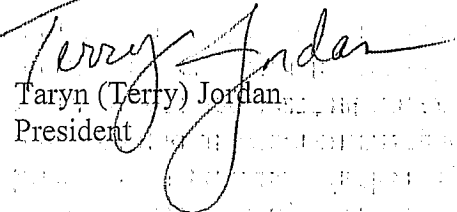

I just wanted to thank you for including Taryn Company in Lobar's appreciation party on Saturday November 18, 2006. Audie Jr., his wife, myself and my husband really enjoyed the dinner and entertainment. I was especially impressed with Carl Minnier's gracious refusal to accept his prize since he apparently was a big winner last year. Lobar should be proud. It says a lot about any corporation when their employee's have ethics and morals that are top notch. As a subcontractor working with GC's that is what I look for, fair treatment from individuals with high moral standards. It is the single most important reason that we consider our relationship with Lobar to be worth nurturing and keeping. Over the last several years of working with Lobar it has become apparent that Lobar values its subcontractors. We receive prompt payments which are of vital importance to lower tier subs, our contracts are kept simple, and if Lobar thinks we may have missed an item on a bid they request a meeting to verify what was quoted.

Some years ago it was somewhat of a "standard" for a lot of GC's to try to get one over on the subcontractor. I can tell you there are still a few of those types of general contractors out there, and Taryn Company will not work for them. Running a business is difficult enough without constantly having to watch your back. When I work for Lobar, or any general contractor, I want to put all our resources into the project, not being on guard.

So thank you again for the wonderful night out, for Lobar's business, and especially for valuing the subcontractors that work with Lobar. Taryn Company looks forward to many years of working together with Lobar.

Sincerely yours,

TARYN COMPANY, INC.
